

Dear Sirs

We have used services from CIS for a couple of years now and considering the high quality of service that they are providing and the impeccable competence of their staff, there is no doubt that we will continue and hopefully expand our business relationship with them going forward. We first got in contact with CIS through their reputation of holding some of the best technical consultants in the world, a reputation that spread all the way to Sweden! As we'd previously had some less fortunate experiences with consultants working remotely and in a different time zone we were initially concerned with getting the attention and support required. We were quickly reassured by the professionalism shown by CIS. They deliver in time and with quality that goes beyond expectations. I would definitely recommend CIS if you are looking for someone who actually knows what they are doing. If you have more specific questions about CIS and their performance, please feel free to contact me.

Yours Sincerely,
